

Men against domestic violence: it's time to name names.

Introducing the 'Call Yourself a Mensch?' campaign

One in four women will face domestic violence in their lifetime, and the Jewish community is no different.

We have come together as a group of men in the belief that for far too long now, the issue of domestic violence has been missing the public outrage of men saying this must stop.

Shalom Bayit (peace in the home) is not just a woman's responsibility – it is everyone's responsibility.

Our 'Call Yourself a Mensch?' campaign supports Jewish Women's Aid to promote education and projects directed towards men and boys.

These programmes endorse and teach caring, non-threatening relationships in families and on playgrounds. Find out more at www.jwa.org.uk/mensch

We invite you to add your name to ours by contacting the 'Call Yourself a Mensch?' campaign on 020 8445 8060.
